Participation and Flexibility

The university community should cooperatively shape how – and what – it learns and teaches.

Flexibility for individuals, fluency across disciplines and cooperative responsibility for curricula should shape near future teaching.

"Possibility that students might craft their own learning pathways."
(NFT Blog, Blockchain)

"We resist the undemocratic and opaque governance of our university."
(Student Occupation)

"The dissolution of the university as gatekeeper of academic value."
(NFT Blog, Blockchain)

"I really do value that personal one-on-one experience with a lecturer."
(NFT Video, Humans)

Use a range of technologies to make the individual learning experience more flexible and tailored."
(NFT Blog, Pilot Workshop 1)

"Staff and students need to pull together against efforts to run universities like big businesses."
(Student Occupation)